2. One of the advisors (co-advisors) is an ex officio member, who shall not serve as the convener.
3. Part-time faculty members may be appointed as external members of the examination committee.
4. In order to avoid nepotism, a student's relatives within the fourth degree by consanguinity or within the third degree by affinity (including ex-spouse) shall not serve as committee members. Members shall be re-appointed if necessary.

Article VII The Master's Degree exam shall be carried out in accordance with the following regulations:

1. The application for the Master's Degree exam shall be reviewed by the applicant's graduate school. If the application has complied with the requirements, the thesis containing an abstract, the examination method, the time and the location of the exam and the recommended list of examiners shall be submitted to the Office of Academic Affairs to be reviewed and verified. The exam will take place after receiving ratification from the President and the examinee shall be notified at least one week prior to the exam. The exam shall be conducted in a fair, just and open manner.
2. Examiners on the Examination Committee must preside in person and shall not be replaced by another person. All examiners must be present for the Master's Degree exam.
3. The examination shall take the form of an oral defense, but a written exam may be conducted when necessary. (If a student fails the examination and the permitted period of study has not yet expired, he/she may apply to initiate the review process and retake the examination after four months. The student can only retake the examination once. Seventy is the highest score to be given for the second examination, even when the actual score is higher than 70. If the student fails the examination again, he/she shall be dismissed based on the first score.)
7. In principle, the master thesis shall be written in Chinese and shall include English and Chinese abstracts; if the topic has been proposed in a previous degree, it cannot be proposed again. If the master thesis is written in a foreign language, a Chinese abstract shall be provided.
8. Graduate students from graduate schools related to art or applied technology may use creative works, exhibition/performance and technical reports to replace their master thesis. However, to determine if a graduate school is related to art or applied technology, proposals shall be proposed by each graduate school to be verified and approved by the Academic Affairs Committee.

A student of a professional practice (in-service) Master's degree program may submit a professional practice report instead of a thesis. The criteria for recognizing professional practice shall be proposed by the conferring graduate institute/degree program office and approved at the Academic Affairs Meeting before implementation.

In the event of submitting a work, proof of achievement accompanied by a written report, technical report, or professional practice report instead of a thesis, the regulations governing the scope of alternative qualification, material forms, content, and other related matters pertaining to each field described in the preceding two paragraphs shall be established by the Ministry of Education.

9. A thesis, work, proof of achievement, written report, technical report, or professional practice report that has already been submitted to obtain a degree in Taiwan or abroad may not be submitted as the thesis, work, proof of achievement, written report, technical report, or professional practice report described in Article 7-8. This rule does not apply to the thesis completed under the joint supervision of a university in Taiwan and a foreign university for the purpose of academic collaboration and submitted to earn separate degrees from the two universities.
10. The examination for a foreign student of a dual degree program is administered according to the mutual agreement. If the examination is held by video conferencing, the conferring graduate institute/degree program office shall record the entire examination for storage and future reference.

Article VIII If a graduate student has applied to take the Master's Degree exam, but the exam is not held due to special circumstances and the student's permitted period of study has not yet expired, the student shall submit the "Notice for Cancellation of Master's Degree Examination" before the school start date of the following semester. After obtaining signatures from the supervisor and the dean of the graduate school, the notice shall be submitted to the Office of Academic Affairs. The student can only apply for another Master's Degree exam after completing the registration procedures. If the student fails to submit the notice in time, a non-passing grade for the Master's Degree exam will be given.

Article IX All conferring graduate institutes shall submit examination results to the Office of Academic Affairs for registration within two weeks after graduate students take examinations.

Article X If a graduate student passes the degree examination, three original copies of the thesis, written report, technical report, or professional practice report approved by the committee members with signatures (two copies for the library and one copy for the conferring department/graduate institute) shall be submitted before the first day of the following semester. The library will submit the documents, videos, audio files, CDs, or materials in any other form with electronic documents to the National Central Library for storage. If required materials are not submitted timely and the permitted period of study expires, the student shall be dismissed. A student whose permitted period of study does not expire can register for the following semester. Required materials shall be submitted by the deadline of that semester, in which the student will then be allowed to graduate. When the permitted period of study expires and the student fails to submit required materials, it is deemed that the student has failed the degree examination and shall be dismissed accordingly.

Article XI The date of graduation for a graduate student is the last teaching day of the semester in which the student submits the thesis. If the student does not take any other courses in the semester during which the student takes the degree examination, the degree may be conferred after the student passes the examination. A student is allowed to graduate in the semester in which he/she passes the examination even when the thesis/dissertation is submitted before the first day of the following semester.

Article XII Wenzao Ursuline University of Languages shall revoke a degree under any of the following circumstances, issue a public announcement of degree revocation, request the degree holder to return the diploma, notify other relevant junior colleges, universities and institutions of the revocation, and handle the matter according to applicable regulations in the event of violation:

2. The thesis, work, proof of achievement, written report, technical report, or professional practice report contains fabricated, altered or plagiarized material, was written by someone else, or involves any other form of fraud.

Article XIII Any matters not stipulated herein shall be conducted in accordance with relevant laws and regulations, and the relevant academic regulations of the University.

Article XIV The Guidelines become effective after they are approved by the Academic Affairs Committee, ratified by the President and filed with the Ministry of Education for record. Revisions must follow the same procedures.
